AVIATOR LEAVES NEW YORK FOR FLIGHT TO THE PACIFIC

James J. Ward, Little More Than a Boy, Is Second to Try for Hearst Prize of $50,000 Across Continent.

HE MUST MAKE IT IN THIRTY DAYS

Just as Work Began in Giant Skyscrapers of Metropolis, Youth Soars Skyward on a Wonderful Journey.

(By Evening Herald A. P. Leased Wire)

New York, Sept. 13.—Ward had barely begun this morning in the busy skyscrapers of lower New York when James J. Ward lifted his biplane from Governors Island and started across the continent in the path of the sun.

It was 9 a.m. in when the boyish aviator—he is only 22 years old, and looks younger—rose into the air.

Ward is the second competitor to try for the prize of $50,000 offered by William R. Hearst for the quickest flight from coast to coast, and the last to start on the westward route. To win he must reach Los Angeles or San Francisco in thirty days.

A northward 20-mile burst from the northwest was blowing and directly against it Ward must fly for the first stage of his journey.

On the west bank of the Hudson river he picked up the flag-deck biplane waiting at the Erie station to pilot him over the maze of tracks across the Hackensack marshes, then settled into his course above the main line of his route.

His destination this morning and his first scheduled stop was Middletown, N. Y., sixty-eight miles away.

From Middletown Ward planned to follow the Erie to Buffalo. Mechanics with gasoline and extra parts await him at Canfield, N. Y., and Susquehanna, Pa., and at the latter place he hoped to spend the night.

Just before the young aviator jumped into his seat Major General Grant, commander of the department of the east, rode up with two aides and handed him letters for delivery at Los Angeles and San Francisco.

As soon as he got clear of the island, Ward mounted rapidly; the air was clear and, excepting no difficulty in picking out his landmarks, he said that he expected to make the journey at a height of about 2,000 feet.

WARD LANDED AT THE WRONG PLACE

Ashbrook, N. J., Sept. 12.—Aviator Ward landed here this morning, having mistaken the Lehigh Valley railroad for the Erie road. The aviator when he found out where he was, went into air again and retraced his course toward Jersey City, where he purposed taking up his course along the line of the Erie railroad to Middletown, N. Y.

ISHE PROVES TO BE REAL BENEFIT

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 13.—San, the primitive Indian, is proving a treasure to the Anthropologists of the University of California, who have recorded by the diagraphist 1,000 words of the Yana language. They believe that important philological discoveries will be made in tracing connections between the Indian word roots and remote Arabic and Sanskrit word beginnings.

The scientists have discovered a remarkable similarity between the Yana language and that of the southern Yaqui, which will greatly facilitate their study of the all but extinct Deer Creek tribe of which Ishé is the sole survivor.

FOWLER BEGINS TO REPAIR HIS MACHINE

Towle, Calif., Sept. 13.—A freight car laden with various parts of aeroplanes arrived here today from Reno. Aviator Fowler at once busied himself in going over the assortment, hoping to find what is necessary for the repair of his biplane. If the needed parts are here he expects to resume his flight from Alta within two or three days.

NEW BIPLANE IS SENT TO FOWLER

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 13.—A biplane, without an engine, left Ogden this morning for Aviator Fowler. The machine, expressed from the east, which reached this point Tuesday, was to have been held here in reserve.

WHERE THE POLITICIAN STANDS

The following letter is from a well-known capitalist of the upper Rio Grande valley:

"Please send me the Evening Herald for nine years, check for $63.00 enclosed. I know quite a number of people who want a daily and a Republican daily, but not a demo-anarchistic daily, and won't have it. We don't care for the politicians. A paper that wants the people to worship as a god Hagerman, Jesus Romero and Gillenwater—for heaven's sake cut them out. You don't know how little the people care for them, whether they read and think or not."

VOLCANO BECOMES REAL MENACE TO UNHAPPY PEOPLE NEAR BASE

Lava Streams Flow From the Great Fissures and Earthquake for Miles Is Shaken by Terrible Explosions of Gases.

LABORERS CARRY RAILROAD AWAY

(By Evening Herald A. P. Leased Wire)

Tanana, Alaska, Sept. 13.—The eruption of Mount Etna is assuming the proportions of a real disaster. The lava stream, whose path crosses the railway line crossing the volcano, is approaching the railway station to the north and especially threatening the depots at Moto and Alcantara, which were abandoned today.

Hundreds of laborers were at work today taking up the railroad tracks and removing all transportable material to places of safety.

The entire crest of Mount Etna appears to be in eruption.

This afternoon it was reported that 29 new fissures had opened in the volcano since the disturbance began. The river of lava which is moving slowly northward has increased in volume and extended eight miles from its source. The houses of several peasants have been overwhelmed. The earthquakes continue, terrifying the people for miles about. At Sant' Agata, on the north coast of Sicily, shocks were recorded during 24 hours.

REAL WILD MAN TO BE CARED FOR

Yana or Nogi Indian Discovered in California is in Charge of Officials and No Treaty Will Be Made.

(By Evening Herald A. P. Leased Wire)

Washington, Sept. 13.—No treaty will be made with the United States and the only surviving member of the Yana or Nogi tribe of Indians, who was discovered near Oroville, Calif., about a week ago in a tarred, wild condition.

He will be taken care of, however, officials said. An Indian who spoke some Yana was found and in his care the Indian bureau will probably decide to place the last of the Yanas.
